

BIOGRAPHY

Chris Lehmann, Tradesmen on Time

I own and operate Tradesmen on Time, an Electrical Contracting business based in Brisbane Australia, providing commercial and domestic electrical, data and air conditioning services.

Our areas of specialisation include electrical work for body corporates, aged care facilities, retail and offices, as well as residential electrical work.

I am also a Director and co-owner of another business that specialising in book-keeping, systems integration and administrative solutions for trade businesses.

I am also a Board member and Junior Vice President of Master Electricians Qld and a former non-executive Director of the ElectroGroup Board where I also served on the Finance and Audit Committee.

My passion is the skills development of the next generation. Through my business, I personally support skills development programs through the employment of apprentices and our involvement in a number of work experience programs.

My other passion is increasing the professionalism and productivity of the trade sector, embracing new technologies to enhance business productivity, and managing safety and reducing risk.
